I want to introduce you to my favorite Indonesian singer, Vidi Aldiano. He is a well-known singer, songwriter, and producer in Indonesia. He was born on March 29, 1990, in Jakarta. Aldiano has become one of the most successful musicians in Indonesia.

As a public figure, he is often seen wearing stylish and trendy outfits in his music videos. He is tall and slender. He has expressive eyes, a sharp nose, and a defined jawline. He has a warm and friendly smile that adds to his charming personality.

His love for music started early in his life, and he began taking piano lessons at the age of 7. He went on to attend Pelita Harapan University in Indonesia, and continued his studies in Berklee College of Music and the University of Manchester, where he majored in music. Aldiano has released several albums, including his debut album "Pelangi di Malam Hari," which was released in 2008. He has won numerous awards for his music, including several AMI Awards (Anugerah Musik Indonesia) for Best Male Solo Artist and Best Pop Song. One of my favorite songs is "Nuansa Bening".

Besides his music career, Aldiano is also known for his philanthropic work. He has worked with various charities in Indonesia, including the Cinta Anak Bangsa Foundation, which helps provide education and healthcare for underprivileged children.

Text for numbers 8 to 10.

Three years ago, my dad got promoted and the whole family had to move to Solo, Central Java. We rented a little pretty house that was perfect for our family, but it was quite far from my new school. My dad had to take me to and pick me up from school by car every day.

One day, my dad had a meeting, so he asked me to go home by bus. It was my first time to take a bus by myself. I was very nervous because I had not memorized the way from home to school and I didn't have any idea which bus I should take.

I asked one of my teachers. He said, "Take bus number 2, then get off at the fourth stop." Then, I went to the bus stop near my school. Bus number 2 came and I got on. I sat in the back by the window. I was so tired that I fell asleep.

I woke up when the horn blared. The bus stopped and I immediately got off. The bus left. I looked around and got confused. I didn't recognize the street or buildings around me. I almost cried since I didn't know what to do.

Suddenly, a car stopped in front of me. My teacher got out and approached me. He asked me why I was alone in that area and I told him the reasons. He laughed at me when I told him that I fell asleep on the bus. He then took me home.

I was very grateful for my teacher's help that day. My mom then asked me to take the bus from then on so that I could memorize the routes. What an experience!

Last Monday was the first day I was late to school. I had never come late to school before, so it was a big deal for me. To make things worse, it was the day of the Math final exam, the day I dreaded the most!

I never did well in Math, so I figured I needed to work hard. On Sunday, I read all my notes, asked my mom to help me practice solving equations, and begged my dad to test my multiplications. I did all I could to not fail. I finally decided that I was ready for the exam a little before midnight. I set my alarm to 5 AM, then went to bed.

I woke up at 7.30 AM the next day because the alarm didn't ring. It turned out to be broken! I rushed to the bathroom and changed into my school uniform. I grabbed my bike and rode it at full speed to school, hoping that I would make it to the 8 o'clock exam.

When I arrived, the school gate was closed. It was already 8.15 AM. Because I came in such a hurry, I lost focus and forgot everything I had learned. I failed miserably.

After the exam, I was starving. I looked for my lunchbox in my backpack, but it was nowhere to be found. I realized that I had forgotten to bring it. I was in such a rush that I even forgot my water bottle. Having eaten and drunk nothing, I still had to clean the boys' restrooms after school as my punishment for being late.

That day, I learned the hard way that not everything turns out as planned. Right after school, I bought a new alarm clock to prevent me from making the same mistake.

LEGEND OF BANYUWANGI

Once upon a time, on the island of Java, there was a king who had a loyal prime minister named Sidapaksa. Sidapaksa loved his beautiful wife dearly, but unfortunately, his mother didn't share the same affection towards her daughter-in-law. One day, Sidapaksa's mother requested the king to send her son away on a mission to a faraway place, so she could get rid of her daughter-in-law. The king agreed, and Sidapaksa was given the task of finding a special flower on Mount Ijen that could keep a woman beautiful. However, before he left, his wife gave birth to their child, and Sidapaksa was hesitant to leave her alone.

But his wife insisted that she would be fine, and Sidapaksa embarked on his journey. Unfortunately, while he was away, his wicked mother threw his baby son into the river, and his wife fell ill and weak from grief. When Sidapaksa returned, his mother lied to him, telling him that his wife had killed their child.

Out of anger, Sidapaksa was ready to kill his wife, who pleaded that she was innocent. Then she ran to a river nearby. Before the current of the river took her away, she said, " my dear husband, if the fragrant smell comes out of this river, then I'm innocent."

A miracle happened. From the river, there came out some fragrant smell. At the center of the river came out two beautiful flowers. A big flower and a small one. The small flower said, "Father, I'm your son. My mother is innocent. It was grandmother who threw me to the river."

Sidapaksa cried loudly. He regreted what he had done to his wife. But it was too late. His wife and child turned into two flowers.

The smelly and dirty river turned into clear and sweet smelled one. In Javanese, it's called Banyuwangi. It means fragrant river. From then on, the land around the fragrant river is now known as Banyuwangi, a town in East Java.

Social bullying is deliberate, repetitive and aggressive social behavior intended to hurt others. This type of behavior generally includes verbal abuse, gossip or other actions that cause mental and emotional harm and social isolation for the victim. Schools, sports activities, colleges, work situations and neighborhoods are some of the places in which this type of bullying occurs.

The goal of social bullying is to belittle and harm another individual or group. Bullying might take the shape of teasing. Ridiculing another child's clothes, making fun of the way he speaks, and mocking his academic achievements are examples of behaviors that a bully might exhibit to gain power over another child.

Social bullying carries into adulthood in some cases. Such behaviors can be found among family members, in work situations, in college social groups, and in neighborhood activities. Sabotaging others by spreading rumors or telling any behaviors that intentionally cause shame and humiliation and exert control over others can be considered examples.

Social bullying is generally caused by some factors. In almost all cases, the bully lacks empathy for his targeted individual or group. In some cases, he may have been the victim of bullying earlier in life. Jealousy is another cause, whereby an individual feels threatened by the characteristics or achievements of another individual.

The negative consequences of social bullying are extensive. Victims often suffer from depression, anxiety, social isolation, and low self-esteem. Some victims turn to suicide or commit homicidal acts as a result of extreme mental and social pressures.

Read the following text to answer number 36 to 38.

One day a hawk would like to marry a hen he saw on earth. He asked her to become his wife. She at once gave her consent on the condition that he would wait until she could grow wings like his, so that she might also fly high. The hawk agreed and flew away after giving her a ring as an engagement. The hen was very proud of the ring and placed it around her neck.

The next day, she met the cock who looked at her in astonishment. The cock said, "Where did you get that ring? You have promised me to be my wife. You must not wear the ring of anyone else. Throw it away."

Then, the hen threw the beautiful ring away.

Not long after that, the hawk came down to give her a beautiful dress. He was surprised when he saw that the hen did not wear the ring.

"Where is the ring I gave you?" he asked.

The hen was frightened and answered, "Oh, sir, yesterday when I was walking in the garden, I met a large snake so I ran as fast as I could. I missed the ring. I have searched everywhere but I could not find it."

The hawk looked sharply at the hen. He knew that she was deceiving him. Then he said, "I did not believe that you could behave so badly. When you have found the ring, I will come down again and married you. As a punishment, you must always scratch the ground to look for the ring. I will snatch away every chicken of yours"

Then he flew away, and ever since all the hens throughout the world have been scratching to find the hawk's ring.

36. What can we learn from the text?

- A. The pain of yesterday is the strength of today.
- B. Don't make any promise when you are unhappy.
- C. In doing what we ought to, we deserve no praise.
- D. There is no greater fraud than a promise not kept.

37. Based on the text, which of the following statements are true?

- I. The hawk regretted giving the ring and the dress to the hen.
- II. The hen lost her ring when she ran away from the snake.
- III. The hen threw the ring away to make the cock happy.
- IV. The hawk punished the hen because of tricking him.

- A. I and III
- B. II and III
- C. II and IV
- D. III and IV

38. Why did the hen have to scratch the ground?

Because she

- I. had to find the hawk's ring
- II. wanted to make the hawk happy
- III. did it as a consequence of what she had done
- IV. should protect her children from the hawks' attack

The correct statements are

- A. I and II

Hyenas are large animals and can weigh up to 190 pounds, which is the size of a large grown-up human. They have front legs that are longer than their back legs and really big ears. They can be a solid brown color or they can have spots or stripes. There are the three different kinds of hyenas- the spotted hyena, the brown hyena, and the striped hyena.

Most hyenas live in savannas. Savannas are large grasslands. Some hyenas live in mountains. Two kinds of hyenas, the spotted hyena and the brown hyena, live in Africa. Hyenas with stripes live in both Africa and Asia. In most grassland, hyenas' homes, food, and water are far away from each other, so they spend a lot of time walking and running between these areas.

Hyenas are carnivores. This means that they hunt and eat meat. Hyenas are also scavengers, which mean that they find food that is already dead and eat that for their meals. They live near lions, so they eat the food the lions leave behind. Hyenas have strong jaws that help them kill their food. They eat large animals like antelope and deer.

Text 2

Wolves are found in Europe, Asia and North America. They can live in forests, deserts, mountains, tundra, grasslands and sometimes around towns and cities.

Adult wolves are usually 1.4 to 1.8 meters in length from nose to tail depending on the subspecies. Wolves living in the far north tend to be larger than those living further south. As adults they may weigh typically between 23 to 50 kilograms. The heaviest wolf recorded weighed 86 kilograms.

Wolves live in groups called packs. A pack is a family of seven to eight wolves. The wolves' communication skills are very important to the pack's survival. Wolves work together to hunt, raise their young, and protect their territory. Wolves communicate with more than howls. They whimper and whine, growl and bark, yelp and snarl. They also use scents produced by their bodies to communicate. A wolf's sense of smell is 100 times stronger than a human. One source of scent is urine, which they use to mark territory and to tell other wolves in their own pack where they are.

39. From the texts we know that
- I. both hyena and wolves live in group
 - II. hyenas' hind legs are shorter than their forelegs
 - III. wolves hunt for food but hyenas are scavengers
 - IV. both hyena and wolves can be found in grasslands
- A. I and II
B. I and III
C. II and III
D. II and IV
40. Based on the texts we can conclude that
- A. wolves live in groups because they have good communication skills
 - B. hyenas live near lions since they eat food together with the lions
 - C. hyenas are called scavengers since they eat already-dead food
 - D. wolves leave urine because they want attract other wolves
41. The fourth paragraphs of both texts will probably talk about the animals'
- A. physical appearances
 - B. special foods
 - C. breeding
 - D. habitats

You're Gonna Be Okay

Brian & Jenn Johnson

I know it's all you've got to just be strong
And it's a fight just to keep it together, together
I know you think that you are too far gone
But hope is never lost, hope is never lost

Hold on, don't let go
Hold on, don't let go

Just take one step closer
Put one foot in front of the other
You'll get through this
Just follow the light in the darkness
You're gonna be ok

I know your heart is heavy from those nights
But just remember that you are a fighter, a fighter
You never know just what tomorrow holds
And you're stronger than you know, stronger than you know

And when the night is closing in
Don't give up and don't give in
This won't last, it's not the end, it's not the end
You're gonna be ok
When the night is closing in
Don't give up and don't give in
This won't last, it's not the end, it's not the end
You're gonna be ok
