The following text is for question 10 to 12

Great Mains, Pity about the Chips

Came for lunch with my sister. We loved our Thai-style mains which were amazing with lots of flavor, very impressive for a vegetarian restaurant. But the service was below average and the chips were too terrible to finish.

When we arrived at 1.40, we had to wait 20 minutes while they got our table ready. OK, we didn't have a reservation, but the restaurant was only half full. There was no reason to make us wait at all.

We ordered the chips as a side dish and they looked delicious. But, when we tasted them, they were overcooked and swimming in oil so we left most of them. We expected a lot more for $10!

When the waiter asked if everything was ok, we said we really didn't like the chips and he said "That's funny, I love them" and that was it. He didn't offer us anything else or take them off our bill. Also, when we didn't leave a tip, he looked annoyed.

The following text is for question 13 to 15

I was a boy of 7th graders at that time. I kept to myself and never really mixed with anyone. I always ate my lunch alone on a bench seat. I never smiled all the time.

I would get called all kinds of names that really hurt me. However, I never complained or showed how much it hurt me.

Nobody chose me for team sports during PE. When I was the last one left, everyone called me a loser and laughed at me. I ran and sat down hiding my face in my hands.

I never told anybody what had happened to me. I knew that if I told my stepdad, it would be 100 times worse. As far as I knew, nobody would help me even if I asked. I was too afraid of what he would do to me. I woke up every day, hoping things would change. I didn't hold grudges and never have. It helped me get through some depressing periods while I was at school. I just wanted a normal life and to be happy.

I can't say that I have found my dream, but at least I am in no danger now. I deal with the consequences of my childhood. It taught me to be a tough person.

Adapted from Robert Kindness' post in Quora.com

The following test is for question 16 to 18

Red Basil Sherbet

Sherbet is a refreshing and healthy syrup from Turkey. It is usually made from fruit, flower extracts, and herbs. It can be served with ice to add coolness. For some syrups, milk is also used instead of water. Lime juice is also added to most sherbet recipes. For this reason, lime water helps prevent the sugar from crystallizing in the syrup and enriches the flavor.

Here is the simple recipe.

Ingredients:

- 1 bunch red basil leaves (100 gr)
- ½ tsp citric acid
- half lemon, sliced
- ½ cup sugar (add or reduce according to your taste)
- 1 liter boiling water

Steps:

1. Roughly chop red basil leaves and place into a big clean bowl.
2. Add citric acid, sliced lemons, and sugar.
3. Pour 1 liter of hot boiling water in the bowl. Stir well and let it rest for about 40 minutes or until it reaches room temperature.
4. Separate the sherbet by running it over the sieve, discharge leaves, and lemon slices.
5. Move the sherbet into a clean jar with a lid. Keep it in the refrigerator.
6. Serve it cold. Adding some ice cubes would be nice.
7. Enjoy your refreshing and healthy summer drink.

Adapted from: <https://rb.gy/1f41cq>

Accessed on March, 7th 2023

16. Read the statements carefully. Which ones are in line with the text?

- (1) We put the drink in a closed-jar and chill it.
- (2) We strain the sherbet using a strainer.
- (3) We serve the iced-drink in a bowl.
- (4) We store the drink in the freezer.

- A. (1) and (2).
- B. (1) and (3).
- C. (2) and (4).
- D. (3) and (4).

17. Who will likely take the benefits of reading the text?

- A. A house wife who likes trying recipes for her family.
- B. A cafe owner who wants to drink a healthy beverage.
- C. A waitress who works in a busy restaurant in Turkey.
- D. A professional Turkish chef who works in a restaurant.

18. What will we likely do if we don't have a sieve?

- A. Garnish the drink with leaves and lemon slices.
- B. Take the leaves and lemon slices out using a spoon.
- C. Put the drink with leaves and lemon slices into a jar.
- D. Let the leaves and lemons slices remain in the bowl.

The following test is for question 19 to 21

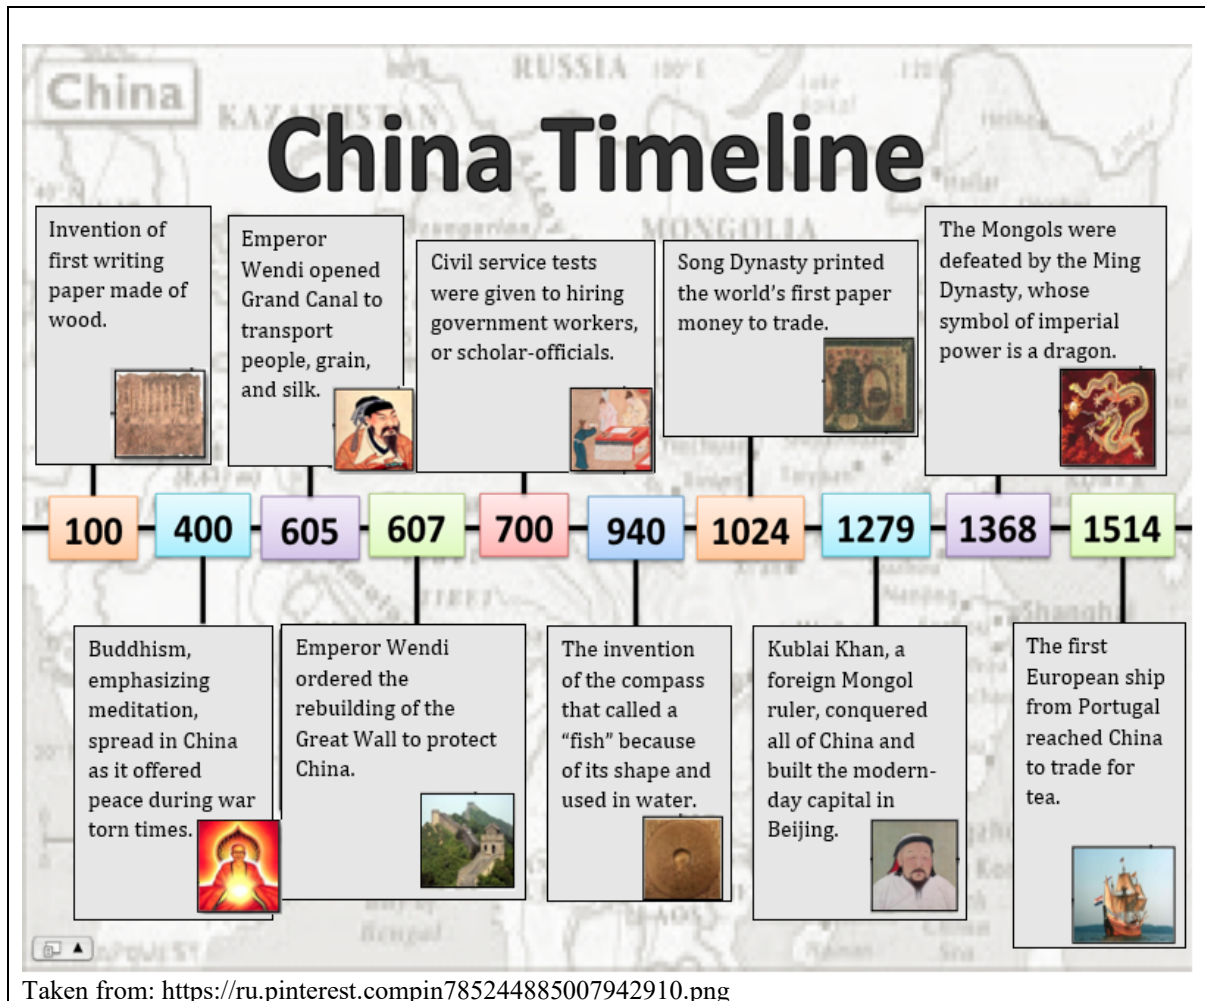

There are five different ways to take screenshots on Windows without needing installation. If these methods do not work, there are third-party screenshot tools available, one of which is Lightshot. Lightshot is a simple and lightweight screenshot tool for Windows.

1. Download and install Lightshot from its official website.
2. Once it's installed, launch Lightshot by clicking the Lightshot icon in the system tray.
3. To take a screenshot, click on the icon and your screen will darken a bit, and the cursor will change into an area selector.
4. Click and drag to select the area of the screen you want to capture. Once you've selected the area, a floating menu will appear, allowing you to add arrows, lines, text, highlights, or rectangles to your screenshot.
5. To save the screenshot to your computer, click on the save icon below the selected area.
6. Lightshot lets us upload screenshots by logging in with Facebook or Google account. This is useful for collaborating with teammates who are not in the same room. We can manage the uploaded screenshots in the gallery feature offered by Lightshot. To log in, right-click the Lightshot icon on the system tray and select Sign In.

THE FLYING CARPET

Once, there lived a mother with three sons whose job was weaving carpets. One day, the mother bought a beautiful drawing with a castle on the mountain, flower gardens, the stream and the sheep. She weaved a carpet with the pictures. Suddenly the strong wind flew it away. It made the woman sick.

Two sons went to find the carpet but they never appeared again. One day the third son happened to meet an old woman with her stony horse at the valley. The son told her that he wanted to get the carpet from the fairies on the mountain.

“You must pass several volcanoes and frozen seas with my stony horse to get there. I will make the horse alive.” said the old woman.

“Sure, I will do it,” the third son responded. The son saw fairies making carpets with his mother’s patterns. One fairy praised the pious boy. She made her own image on the carpet. The son suddenly fell asleep on it and flew away home.

He shouted, “How could I get home in just a blink?”

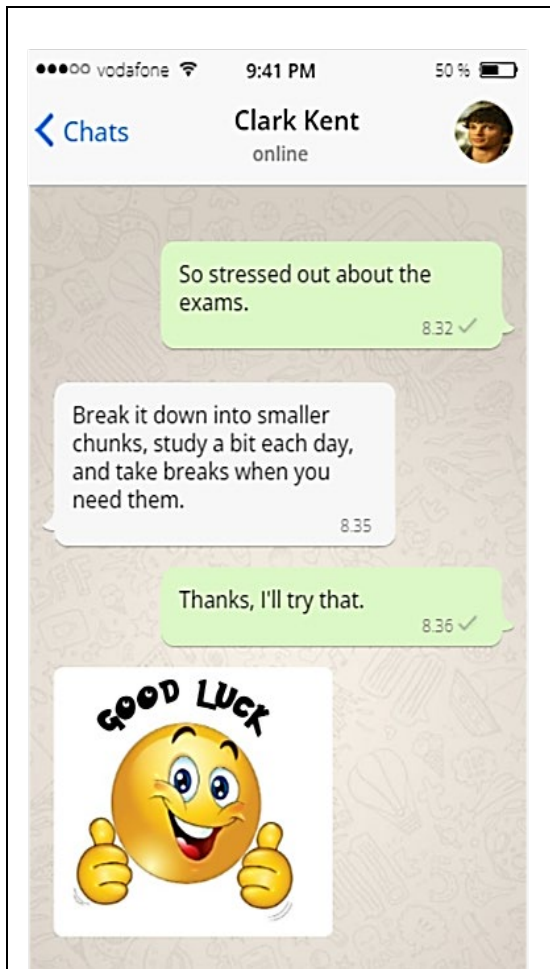

“Hurry stretch it on the floor!” said mother.

Magically, it turned everything into real. The son was very astonished to see a gorgeous girl standing near the lake. Soon they got married.

The following text is for question 30 to 32

When You Believe

Many nights we prayed with no proof, anyone could hear in our hearts a hopeful song
We barely understood
now, we are not afraid
although we know there's much to fear
We were moving mountains
Long before we knew we could, whoa, yes

There can be miracles
when you believe
though hope is frail, it's hard to kill who knows what miracles you can achieve?
When you believe, somehow you will
You will when you believe
Oh-oh-oh Mmm yeah

In this time of fear
When prayer so often proves in vain
Hope seems like the summer bird
Too swiftly flown away
Yet now I'm standing here
My hearts so full, I can't explain
Seeking faith and speakin' words
I never thought I'd say

There can be miracles
When you believe

The following test is for question 33 to 35

On a hot day, a thirsty crow flew over a field looking for water. She flew for a long time, but she could not find any. She felt exhausted. She almost gave up. She sat on a branch of a big tree.

Suddenly, she saw water jug below her. She flew straight down to see if there was any water inside. She was glad to find out that there was some water inside the jug.

The crow tried to push her head into the jug. Sadly, she found that the neck of the jug was too narrow. Then she tried to push the jug down for the water to flow out but she found that the jug was too heavy.

The crow thought hard for a while. She sat near the jug, thinking about the way to get the water. Then she was looking around. She saw some pebbles. She suddenly had a good idea. She started picking up the pebbles one by one, dropping it into the jug. As more and more pebbles filled the jug, the water level kept rising. Soon it was high enough for the crow to drink. "It's working" she said. "My hard work had paid off".

The following test is for question 42 to 44

Mental health counselors represent one of the professions that is specifically responsible for people dealing with cognitive, behavioral, and emotional issues. Counselors work with individuals, families, groups, and communities. They deal with mental health issues and improve mental well-being.

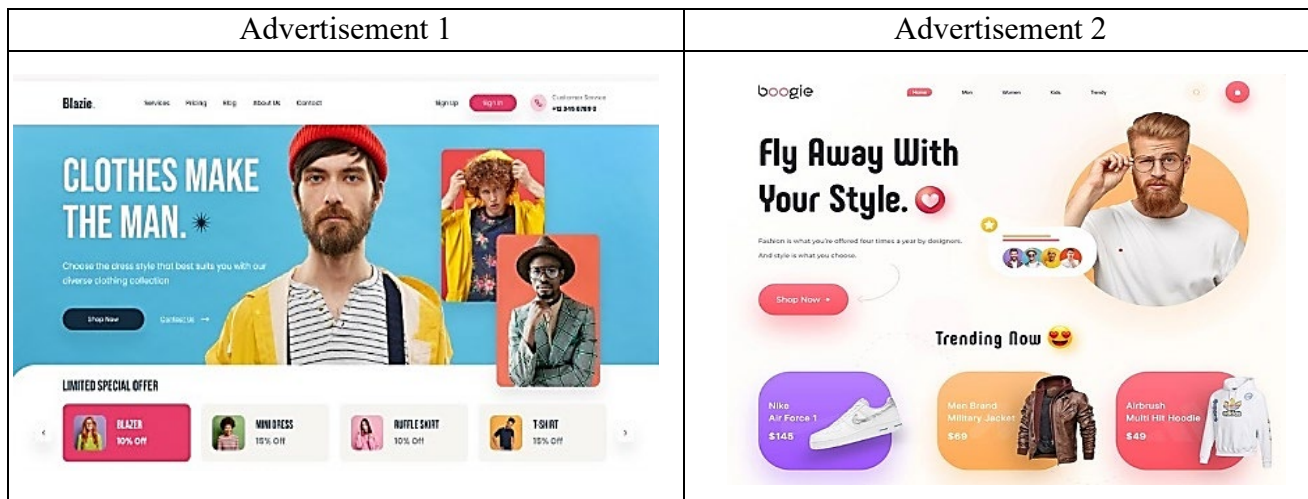

You might find professional mental health counselors working in a wide range of settings. They work in mental health, clinics, schools, private practices, and hospitals. People experiencing depression, phobias, and anxiety may choose to see a mental health counselor for counseling and psychotherapy services.

Counselors may also help people experiencing social difficulties, emotional problems, addictions, and substance abuse. They also help people dealing with grief, self-esteem issues, and marital difficulties. Some mental health counselors choose to work with specific populations such as children, older people, or college students.

Counseling tends to view individual needs within a humanistic context. Rather than focusing on dysfunction, counselors often see problems as arising from normal reactions to developmental changes or as difficulty dealing with specific life stages. As a result, counselors may focus on personal development by helping you learn the skills and coping with abilities you need to deal with such as life changes and stages effectively.

SIX FACTORS THAT INFLUENCE CLIMATE CHANGE

- 1. TEMPERATURE

Since 1880, Earth's average temperature has been rising to 0.08° C due to burning fossil fuels and cutting down trees that are influencing the Earth's temperature.
- 2. SOLAR RADIATION

The imbalanced sunlight that is absorbed by the Earth's surface causes the planet to heat up which has vital consequences for the weather.
- 3. POLLUTION

Air pollutants can directly affect the water and soil affecting the heating and warming factors of the climate.
- 4. VEGETATION

Vegetation covers a whopping 20% of the Earth, which surprisingly increases the heat transfer in the Earth's boundary layer.
- 5. SEA LEVELS

When there is an increase in global temperature, there is an expansion of sea water causing the water level to dramatically rise.
- 6. GLACIERS

The persistent heating can cause the glaciers to melt, resulting in soil erosion, storm surges, and sea-level rise.

48. Why is the infographic published?
- A. To tell the process of glacier melting.
 - B. To explain the causes of climate change.
 - C. To show the pollution effects to climate change.
 - D. To describe the increase of the Earth's temperature.
49. Which of the following statements are in line with the text?
- (1) The distribution of sunlight on the Earth's surface increases the planet's temperature.
 - (2) The decrease vegetation growth results on the declining number of fossil fuel use.
 - (3) The melting of glaciers causes various natural disasters and the rise of sea level.
 - (4) Deforestation has the lowest impact on increasing the Earth's temperature.
- A. (2) and (1).
 - B. (2) and (4).
 - C. (3) and (1).
 - D. (3) and (4).
50. Based on the infographic, we can infer that
- A. air pollution not only affects the Earth's temperature but also decreases the number of vegetation
 - B. the warming of the Earth has an impact on the glacier melting which in turn increase sea levels
 - C. if the temperature of the Earth's surface increases, the sea levels will decrease
 - D. if the vegetation coverage is reduced, the Earth's temperature will be declining
